September Mission -

During the month of September, our mission focus will be on First Nations Kitchen, located in south Minneapolis. First Nations Kitchen is a justice-focused, Gospel-based ministry. Its primary intent is to provide food to indigenous people who would not otherwise have access to high-quality, fresh organic food in an environment of radical hospitality and cultural empowerment. First Nation Kitchens sees that food is medicine and wants to bring back the ancestral foods of the peoples indigenous to this land to eradicate heart disease, type 2 diabetes, and obesity from the native community. Each Sunday, from 4pm-5pm First Nations Kitchen welcomes its neighbors to a delicious hot meal and a bag of organic produce. This work provides a unique opportunity to come together around common interests (mission, Gospel faithfulness, addressing real human need) across cultural differences that in other circumstances would divide rather than unite, and it is fun work! To donate, you can write "For FNK" on the memo line of your check or in the notes box when using EPC's website "Donate Now" option to donate. To volunteer to help prepare and serve the weekly to-go meal and produce giveaway bags or for more information, you can reach out to Mission Team member, Lisa Holden. You can also email director@firstnationskitchen.org to become a volunteer and look at available dates.

Backwoods Help:

Please consider taking time to work in the backwoods removing invasive buckthorn, burdock and garlic mustard. When pulling burdock, remove the burrs and put them in the neighbor's fire pit. There are also some plants that have stickers on them that get on everything! Luna calls them Virginia stick seed plant. If you pull it, please put it in the fire pit as well. Please be mindful of keeping green matter separate from sticks/branches when done with your work. They go to separate places at the compost site.

There is a huge pile of buckthorn that needs to be transported to the yard waste site. Please consider doing this as part of the ongoing work of the backwoods maintenance. THANK YOU!
