Sunday 12/31/23 Worship

We will be having a Potluck service on Sunday December 31st at 10 am with the theme of looking back at 2023 and looking forward. Please come! Even if you only bring yourself, that is enough- all are welcome! Michelle and Connie will be leading the service. Todd will be blessing us with music.

Divine Love in My Words, a book authored by Grant Hammond

Our newly attending couple, Dani and Grant, have shared the information of the book that Grant has newly published. Entitled, Divine Love In My Words, it is a book of poetry and spiritual wisdom written from Grant's heart! 💙 If you are interested in further exploring this book, it can be found here. Congratulations, Grant! And, welcome Dani and Grant!! 🥰

New Art for ArtPlayce

We have new art in the sanctuary! Kiri Albrecht Riehle McKibbins, who is Liz's sister, agreed to share her beautiful acrylic paintings with us, and we hung them on the walls yesterday. Kiri specializes in animals (She does pet portraits if you're interested!) and landscape and flowers. Her husband Jay has a few of his paintings in the show also. There's even a self portrait of the two of them included for you to see. Enjoy the new artwork! It'll be up for a month or two.

January Mission: Enneagram Prison Project

January Mission will be the Enneagram Prison Project. As we know, this is a project near and dear to Pastor Phil's heart. It is a project that enables prisoners to do the powerful and transformative work of the Enneagram with trained leaders (like Phil who goes to Shakopee Women's Prison) and learn self awareness, self regulation, and self compassion. It is POWERFUL, vulnerable, and healing work. I encourage all of us to give to this mission and also to learn more about the Enneagram for our own personal healing.
